

REMUNERATION POLICY

1 October 2024

Introduction

The Alternative Investment Fund Managers Directive (AIFMD) came into force on 21 July 2011 and EU Member States were required to implement the Directive into local law by 22 July 2013.

AIFMs within the scope of the AIFMD have to implement a remuneration policy that is consistent with, and promote sound and effective risk management in accordance with, the guidelines published by the European Securities and Markets Authority (ESMA) on 11 February 2013 (Remuneration Code), which restrict the structure and form of remuneration to certain categories of staff (Identified Staff).

The remuneration policy should:

- ▶ Align with the AIFM's business strategy, values and interests
- ▶ Discourage excessive risk taking
- ▶ Enable the AIFM to align the interests of investors and AIFs managed with the interests of the Identified Staff managing such AIFs.

The rules defined by ESMA apply to identified persons whose regular business is managing one or more Alternative Investments Funds (AIF) that fall under the scope of the AIFM Directive:

- ▶ European Union AIFMs managing AIFs
- ▶ Non-European Union AIFMs managing EU AIFs
- ▶ Non-European Union AIFMs that market AIFs to EU professional investors with a passport.

Similarly, UCITS V regulations came into force in 2017 and the guidelines on sound remuneration defined by ESMA have been extended to UCITS-regulated management companies, as well as any non-European Union investment managers managing UCITS funds by delegation.

Scope Entity

Unigestion SA as a Non-European Union Management Company is not directly bound by AIFMD or UCITS V regulations. However, the AIFM/UCITS V remuneration code extends to any entity to which portfolio management or risk management activities are delegated by management companies, which is the case for Unigestion SA in some circumstances.

The following remuneration policy and guidelines aim to be equivalent to the Remuneration Code and the ESMA guidelines on sound remuneration (the "Guideline") and consequently, to satisfy the necessary requirements related to delegated portfolio or risk management activities.

Proportionality and Scope of the Remuneration Policy

The Remuneration Code and the Guidelines allow companies to take into account the size, nature and scope of their activities in determining how to apply the remuneration policy.

As of today, Unigestion SA's assets under management of AIFs and UCITS represent 80% of total assets under management in scope for AIFMD purposes.

Following this proportionality assessment, Unigestion SA resolved to comply with the principles of the Remuneration code and the Guidelines but when it comes to the variable compensation Pay-out Process Rules (as defined as the rules set by the remuneration Code and guidelines with respect to variable remuneration) to only apply them to the AIF and UCITS rendered services portion.

In addition, according to the letter of circumstances published by ESMA in 2016 (the "Letter"), it may be disproportionate to apply the full requirements of the Guidelines to relatively small amounts of variable remuneration and to apply some requirements to certain staff when this would not result in an effective alignment of interests between the employees and the investors in the funds. Consequently, Unigestion SA resolved to set some differentiated variable remuneration thresholds.

Identified Staff

Management companies are responsible for identifying the persons impacted by the Directive and ESMA guidelines.

The Pay-out Process Rules do not need to be applied to staff of management companies, those not influencing AIFs/UCITS ("investment funds") or the company itself. Remuneration for staff managing mixed investment funds and mandates business may be apportioned and the rules only applied to the investment funds portion. Management companies should be able to demonstrate to authorities how they have classified their Identified Staff.

Similarly, where risk management or portfolio management is delegated, the delegate need only put arrangements in place with respect to those staff of the delegate who have a material impact on the risk profiles of the relevant investment fund, and in respect of remuneration that is connected with the delegated activities.

Details of Unigestion SA's Identified Staff can be provided on demand by contacting Unigestion's Human Resources department.

Unigestion SA Remuneration Policy

Remuneration Committee

Unigestion SA's Compensation Committee consists of two directors of the company.

The primary responsibilities of the Compensation Committee include:

- ▶ Designing, reviewing and recommending to the Board compensation policies and programs;
- ▶ Approving the employment terms of key executives when not dealt with by the Board of Directors;
- ▶ Deciding on the total compensation of the Chief Executive Officer, the Deputy Chief Executive Officer, the members of the Executive Committee and other key executives for the past year;
- ▶ Deciding on incentive plans and rewards attributed to key executives.

Remuneration of Directors

Any remuneration for members of the Board of Directors is established on regular basis by the Group's Compensation Committee. This remuneration consists of a fixed annual amount to be paid on an annual basis.

The Performance Review System

The performance review process is a framework of dialogue between the manager and the employee to agree on Key Performance Indicators (KPIs), measurement of those KPIs, career management, and training & development. When defining KPIs the potential sustainability risks as defined by the Unigestion Risk Policy related to the KPIs are always taken into consideration.

There are two performance reviews each year: the annual performance review, which is carried out between December and January, and the mid-year performance review, which is carried out between July and August.

The mid-year performance review is a lighter version than the annual one as this process functions as a review of progress in meeting the KPIs.

Alignment with Our Values

This section focuses on our Values - Engagement, Conviction and Ownership - with written definitions for each of them to support common understanding.

There is no numerical rating on this. The aim of this is to provide a framework of open dialogue between the employee and his/her manager on his/her strengths and areas of improvement, taking into perspective definition of each value.

Key Performance Indicators

Management and department heads establish detailed goals for each team in the company based on the strategic objectives set by the company. Achievement of these goals is measured by KPIs which are based on the company's vision of success, built on the following pillars:

- ▶ Performance and service to our clients,
- ▶ Financial sustainability of our company,
- ▶ Positive working environment,
- ▶ Our contribution to society.

Department heads then break down these KPIs for their team members. For each staff member, tailor-made quantitative and/or qualitative KPIs will be added to reflect individual objectives or professional development. (i.e. adhoc projects, client presentation improvement, reporting quality etc.)

To assess the KPIs, a rating system in a drop-down list allows four possibilities as indicated in the accompanying table. Both employee and manager have free comment boxes to express their feedback and give more qualitative insight explaining the rating.

Items	Rate
Exceeded	4
Achieved	3
Partially Achieved	2
Not Achieved	1

Fixed and Variable Remuneration

Employee remuneration is made up of fixed remuneration (i.e. base salary and benefits) and variable remuneration.

The remuneration review process takes place once a year, between December and February, just after the performance review process.

The Human Resources department, in partnership with external consultants, conduct remuneration studies to benchmark staff compensation against the market.

Fixed Remuneration

Fixed remuneration adjustments are made on a case by case basis with specific evidence backed up by the salary survey.

Revised salaries become effective in April, following the compensation review.

Pay-out Process Rules with Respect to Variable Remuneration

Variable remuneration is based on the following criteria:

- ▶ Unigestion Group's financial performance
- ▶ Performance of the employee and the results achieved from their fixed KPIs including sustainability risks
- ▶ Length of service and professional experience
- ▶ Results from the salary survey carried out by HR in relation to remuneration

When awarding variable remuneration to Identified Staff, the qualitative and quantitative criteria are appropriately balanced. The decision to award variable remuneration in any given year and the amount of any such variable remuneration in any given year is at the absolute discretion of the company.

The award of variable remuneration in respect of any one year does not create an entitlement to be considered for, or to be awarded, a variable remuneration in respect of any other year. The award of variable remuneration of a particular amount in one year does not create an entitlement to be considered for, or to be awarded, variable remuneration of a similar amount in any other year.

The Remuneration Code, together with the Guidelines, sets out the following Pay-out Process Rules for management companies:

1. At least 50% of any variable remuneration is payable in shares or units of the investment funds or equivalent;
2. At least 40% of variable remuneration is deferred over at least three years, increasing to at least 60% in certain cases; and
3. Claw back and retention arrangements should align incentives with the interests of investors.

At Unigestion, we chose to combine the first and second rules as follows:

Variable remuneration is made up of (the "50/50% rule"):

- ▶ 50% in cash upfront; and
- ▶ 50% in units of the investment funds or equivalent, deferred over three years

In order to simplify the Pay-out Process Rules and in accordance with the Letter, any differed variable remuneration below CHF 50'000 (or currency equivalent) in any given year may be paid 100% in cash upfront. Indeed, we consider that under this threshold, variable remuneration is not significant enough compared to the fixed remuneration. In addition, to ensure fairness amongst all Identified Staff, the first CHF 50'000 of deferred variable compensation may be paid in cash up front as long as the deferred variable remuneration remains greater than CHF 50'000.

%	100%		75%	25%	70%	30%	65%	35%

Payment of Cash Upfront:

Payment of cash upfront is usually paid in March together with the monthly fixed remuneration instalment.

Payment in Units of the Investment Funds or Equivalent, Deferred Over Three Years:

As it is often not possible to provide the payment in units of specific AIFs (as these can be closed or dedicated investment vehicles set up by clients for their exclusive use), Identified Staff can choose another investment fund (UCITS or AIF) managed with a similar investment methodology by their team.

Transfer in kind or redemption in cash of the units is arranged after a three-year vesting period.

Claw Back and Retention Arrangements to Align Incentives with Interests of Investors:

Payment in units of the investment funds or equivalent, deferred over three years, is conditional and valid only if, after three years, the Identified Staff remains employed within the Unigestion Group. We believe this in itself provides an automatic and adequate performance adjustment on the deferred variable remuneration for both cases of resignation and dismissal. It aligns deferred variable remuneration with the interests of investors.

Private Equity Department Identified Staff Carried Interest Arrangements

Identified Staff in the Private Equity department are entitled to carried interest payments on a regular basis. Our approach to carried interest payments is different to the typical structuring in the private equity industry: we pay carried interest as variable remuneration through the regular pay/salary process and not as a return on a private investment. Consequently, carried interest payments are considered by the company as variable remuneration to be treated as such under the above-mentioned Pay-out Process Rules.

In addition, because carried interest payments are due only under successful long-term specific performance achievements, the Company has considered them as deferred variable remuneration payments in investment funds units, qualifying with the above-mentioned Pay-out Process Rules.

In order to demonstrate that over long term, the proportion of carried interest payments (considered as deferred variable remuneration payments in investment funds units) is complying with the above-mentioned 50%/50% rules, the company will provide the Compensation Committee with supporting evidence on a regular basis.

Guaranteed Bonus

It is the firm's policy not to offer a guaranteed bonus unless it is exceptional and in the context of hiring new staff and limited to the first year of service. Such buy-out awards will not be more generous either in amount or terms than that offered by the previous employer.

Procedure

The Human Resources department monitors the end-of-year compensation review and supports department heads in defining their team remuneration strategy in a five-step process:

- ▶ The HR team provides the Heads of Department with their team members' historical salary record, salary surveys and an annual guideline.
- ▶ The Heads of Department then review this information with their Line Managers regarding their teams. These meetings take place after the Line Managers have completed Annual Performance reviews with their direct reports.
- ▶ Heads of Department then send their proposals to HR and a meeting is organised with each Head of Department to challenge and finalise the proposals.
- ▶ Finalised proposals are reviewed by the Group CEO, the Group Deputy CEO and the Head of HR. Then, meetings between them and each Head of Department are organised to officially finalise and approve the proposals.
- ▶ Finally, the compensation of key executives is reviewed and approved by the Compensation Committee.

No individual is involved in decisions relating to his or her own remuneration.

Severance Payments

Should the firm decide to make a severance payment, it will reflect performance over time and will not reward failure.

Disclosure

Unigestion will disclose its remuneration policies at least annually through an independent remuneration policy statement.

The report contains will contain detail on:

- ▶ The total amount of remuneration for the financial past year, and the split between fixed and variable remuneration, paid to the identified staff, the number of beneficiaries. Where relevant it will also detail carried interest paid by the investment funds.
- ▶ The aggregate remuneration broken down by senior management and members of staff whose actions have a material impact on the risk profile of the investment funds.
- ▶ The policy is accessible to staff members via Unigestion's Intranet.

This policy has been applied since the 2014 calendar year and for any variable remuneration awarded in 2015 to Identified Staff. It was updated on 19 December 2019, 18 December 2020 and 1 October 2024.
